

Digital Map Products Contributing Cloud GIS Perspective to GITA's Oil & Gas Pipeline Conference as Speaker & Exhibitor

(Irvine, CA – October 20, 2011) Digital Map Products (DMP) is excited to announce its involvement at the Geospatial Information & Technology Association's (GITA) upcoming 20th Annual GIS for Oil & Gas Pipeline conference in Houston, TX. This industry leading conference, which brings together geospatial professionals from leading oil and gas pipeline industry organizations, will take place October 24th – 26th.

Digital Map Products, a leading innovator of cloud-based spatial solutions, will be presenting a Technical Session at the conference on Wednesday, October 26th from 11:15 –11:55 am, titled "The Cloud Revolution: Leveraging Cloud Computing for GIS Success." Drawing on his company's more than a decade of experience delivering cloud-based GIS applications and geospatial data, DMP CEO Jim Skurzynski will discuss how cloud computing is transforming GIS and provide tips on how you can best capitalize on the next generation of GIS technologies.

Additionally, conference attendees can visit Digital Map Products at booth #110 where company representatives will be sharing information and answering questions about DMP's geospatial data, mapping development platform, SaaS GIS applications, and the Technical Session.
