LANDVISION™

Unlocking the Power of Location for Real Estate

Because real estate is all about location, it's important to perform your research, analysis and decision making from a spatial perspective. LandVision™, a popular map-based research, analysis and collaboration tool from Digital Map Products, incorporates location visualization to help you find better deals.

LandVision™ provides access to comprehensive property and geospatial data, powerful visual analysis capabilities, and collaboration features, all in an intuitive online tool. It gives builders, developers, commercial brokers, and multifamily firms a single system to research, analyze and manage real estate projects. Users of LandVision™ find new opportunities ahead of the competition, qualify them quickly and efficiently manage their portfolios.

LandVision™ is available in four editions, making location-empowered decisions available to companies of all sizes and tailored to their unique business needs.

LandVision™ provides a single-source system to research, analyze and manage projects from a map interface.

LandVision™ Professional Edition

Save time researching, qualifying and presenting opportunities.

LandVision™ Professional is best suited for small to medium-sized firms with a limited number of users. It offers comprehensive property, market and environmental data, aerial imagery, drawing tools, and advanced spatial search features. The easy-to-use map-based interface makes using advanced mapping technology simple, letting you find better land and lots. LandVision™ Professional offers an affordable and scalable solution to bring location context to your research, analysis and decision making.
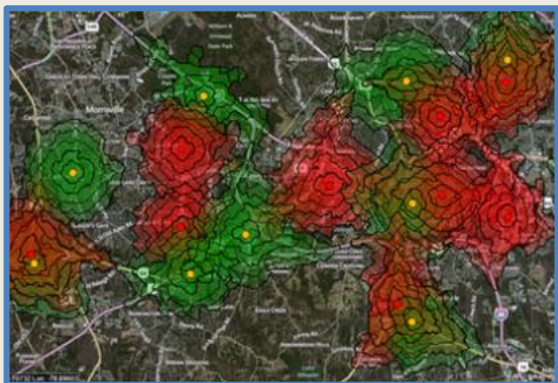

LandVision™ Enterprise Edition

A centralized system for all your property and market information.

LandVision™ Enterprise is ideally suited for medium to large-sized regional and national real estate focused businesses with numerous users and a need to share data. It offers a robust mapping solution for advanced searching, powerful visual analysis and enterprise-wide collaboration. Premium data layers, collaboration features and the ability to import custom data distinguish this versatile single source solution. LandVision™ Enterprise users save time and capitalize on more valuable opportunities.
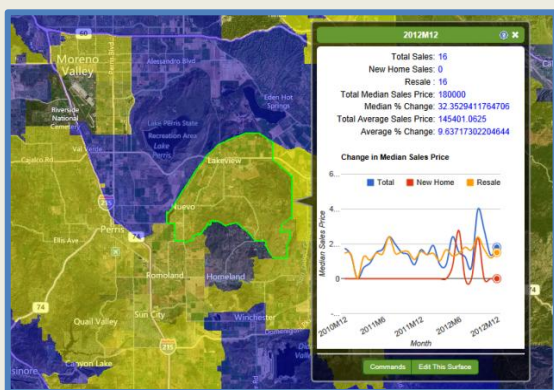

LandVision™ Commercial Real Estate Edition

Make rapid informed decisions & stay ahead of market trends.

LandVision™ Commercial Real Estate Edition was designed for the needs of brokers, analysts, and researchers. It includes all of the robust data, search and visualization features of Enterprise, but goes much further with data and tools geared specifically for commercial real estate. Generate and analyze trade areas in minutes. Define market segments and receive email alerts on their activity. Create your own property database and generate professional quality maps. Gain unparalleled market insights and accelerated decision making.

LandVision™ Builder Developer Edition

Find optimal locations tailored to your unique business objectives.

LandVision™ Builder Developer Edition was designed specifically for builders, developers and multifamily firms. It incorporates data, automatic searches, and analytical tools required to find, develop and market profitable communities. Discover site acquisition opportunities for your defined submarkets and site criteria, and easily analyze them with automated scoring based on suitability for development. Understand and analyze market trends with animated maps and statistics. Integrate your own site and contact data for one complete source of information. Find the right properties for your business, ahead of the competition.
